“Anything your mind can conceive, you can achieve.”

D.A.S.H.is in the business of helping people and organizations develop assets for successful habits™ - look at who they are in ways they have never thought of before.

It starts with a conversation to be visionary, to transform and reimagine who you are.

We work with individuals and organizations, providing strategic services, coaching, organization development, facilitation, webinars, and keynote presentations.

Diversity, equity, and inclusion training is the starting point not the finish line.

Inclusion, diversity, equity and asset-building (IDEA) are integral to professional and organizational transformation. When it comes to matters related to IDEA, people often have questions. IDEA matters are front and center in the news, with race, gender, healthcare disparities, and economic gaps and they are ever-more present at every level within organizations. D.A.S.H. Consulting can provide the answers you need today. There is a sense of urgency for support to re-imagine what leaders must do to create lasting change, AND WE ARE HERE TO HELP!

These matters are front and center with Black Lives Matter and COVID-19 and it is also present at every level in our society.

D.A.S.H. helps people discuss these matters in productive ways, to create spaces where they can have difficult conversations. Valuing diversity matters. The value placed on diversity and the practice of inclusion will create an openness to re-imagining the promise of the future. Sometimes individuals are a conversation away from having a breakthrough, or a conversation away from hitting the headline for the wrong type of behavior. Our intentional work together makes us more proactive than reactive.
